Goldberg: Ending War To Be Very Difficult

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur J. Goldberg, said at the start of a five-nation Asian tour today that ending the war in Vietnam is "going to be very, very difficult."

He said he brought no "package proposal" for peace.

Goldberg met with Foreign Minister Takeo Miki. A Japanese spokesman said they talked about de-escalation of the fighting, the upheaval in Communist China and Japan's role in Southeast Asian affairs.

The ambassador will discuss Asian and world problems with officials in South Korea, Vietnam, the Philippines and Nationalist China. He is to report to President Johnson.

Escalation May Aid
Goldberg said there has been no indication that a halt in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam would lead to a settlement. North Vietnamese spokesmen have said peace talks could start after the United States unconditionally ended the air raids. U.S. officials have insisted that North Vietnam take a reciprocal step to reduce its military activity in South Vietnam.

Back To Battlefield
WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of a tough North Vietnamese rejection of American peace feelers, the Vietnam war now seems more likely to be settled on the battlefield than at the conference table.

This pessimistic outlook for any peace talks at this time came Friday from U.S. officials who recalled the collapse of negotiations made earlier this month.

Russia Not Strong
On the more hopeful side, U.S. officials said the Soviets now appear to be interested in a peace settlement along lines of the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements on Southeast Asia. Washington might be willing to go along with that.

But the Kremlin apparently does not have enough influence on Hanoi leaders to change their stand, the officials said. They said Washington and Moscow therefore cannot, by dealing with each other, come up with a solution to the war.

The officials specifically referred to diplomatic probes during the Feb. 8-12 lunar new year cease-fire and the six-day bombing pause ordered by President Johnson.

Can't Talk Bombs
Soviet premier Alexei N. Kosygin was visiting British Prime Minister Harold Wilson at the time. Resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam temporarily was held up pending a response to Kosygin from Hanoi.

The American officials said North Vietnam's private diplomatic replies then were similar to statements made publicly in Paris this week by Hanoi's envoy there, Mai Van Bo.

These included demands that in return for the possibility of peace talks, the United States halt its bombing of the north permanently and unconditionally; that U.S. "aggression" in Vietnam end; that U.S. troops be withdrawn; and recognition of the Communist National Liberation front, the Viet Cong's political arm, in South Vietnam.

U.S. officials said Washington could not halt the bombing without Hanoi making a military cutback, too. And since North Vietnam still thinks the Communists have a right to take over the south by force, they said, the issue looks as if it must be resolved by fighting.

Pollution Control Meeting Saturday

May Prosecute Powell
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department plans a prompt probe of evidence in the Adam Clayton Powell case with an eye toward possible prosecution, congressional sources said today.

Although the case file has not been transmitted yet to the department, the sources said members of the select committee that investigated Powell have received assurances at the highest levels that all leads will be checked which suggest either congressional indiscretion or law violations.

Powell remains at his Bimini fishing retreat in the Bahamas. His lawyers are expected to meet over the weekend to decide how he should react to the committee's recommendation that he be seated with a severe censure, loss of seniority and assessment of $40,000 from his salary.

Considerable material not contained in the committee's hearing record and report will be sent to the Justice Department, including information about Powell's financial dealings.

Couldn't Find Assets
Sources say the committee ran into many roadblocks, some caused by a time shortage and others because the panel was unable to find any evidence of Powell's financial assets, outside of his House bank account. Efforts to get information about bank accounts in the Bahamas islands were unsuccessful.

The committee especially was interested in examining the activities and income of Huff Enterprises Ltd., the Bahamian

Think DeSalvo Canada-Bound

BOSTON (AP) — Two brothers of Albert DeSalvo, 35, self-styled Boston stranger, were arrested today as accessories in their brother's escape Friday from a mental hospital. Richard DeSalvo, 32, and his brother, Joseph, were accused by Massachusetts authorities of aiding in Albert's escape.

BRIDGEWATER, Mass. (AP) — Massachusetts authorities said early today they believe Albert DeSalvo, self-proclaimed Boston stranger who escaped early Friday from a mental hospital, is armed and hitchhiking toward Williamsburg, Ontario.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Donald Conn, coordinator of the search, said, "For the first time we are not throwing darts at a dart board. Now we have a direction."

Canadian police said all Ontario border points and custom offices have been placed on alert for DeSalvo.

Authorities said the Williamsburg mentioned by Bridgewater police is 30 miles west of Cornwall, the nearest border crossing point.

State police in Boston said they believed DeSalvo had a .32 caliber pistol and about $150 in cash.

Mates Aid
State police declined to give the source of their information, but Conn said the return of two men who escaped with DeSalvo was "a factor in narrowing the search."

The far flung resources of the FBI joined in the search. The FBI obtained a warrant charging DeSalvo with unlawful flight to avoid imprisonment for rape and suggested that $100,000 bail be asked on his capture.

Two fellow prisoner-inmates who escaped from the Bridgewater State Hospital with DeSalvo surrendered Friday night to officials of a state legislative commission investigating conditions at the hospital.

DeSalvo never has been indicted in the deaths of 13 Great Boston women between June 1962, and January 1964, which were ascribed to the Boston stranger, but has said a number of times he committed the crimes.

He was sentenced to life imprisonment last month after a trial in Cambridge on charges of rape and indecent assaults on four women in suburban Boston homes in 1964.

The assault charges were not connected with the stranglings. The Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser offered a $5,000 reward for information that would lead to the capture of DeSalvo "dead or alive."

F. Lee Bailey, attorney who represented DeSalvo in his trial in January, followed with an offer of a $10,000 reward for DeSalvo "alive."

He said he feared some "trigger happy citizen" would shoot DeSalvo to collect a reward and pledged to "personally prosecute" the person responsible if DeSalvo is killed.

The three inmates escaped down the shaft of an elevator under construction and scaled frames from the construction site as ladders.

The committee especially was interested in examining the activities and income of Huff Enterprises Ltd., the Bahamian corporation whose president is Corrine A. Huff, Powell's secretary and fishing companion on Bimini.

Fire Secretary
Part of the committee recommendation to the House is that Miss Huff be fired from the congressional payroll on grounds she is not performing any official duties in either Washington or New York where the Harlem Democrat's district is located.

If the resolution is approved, Powell would have until March 13 to appear to take the oath and be escorted to the well of the House to be censured publicly by Speaker John W. McCormack.

Can't Touch Pension
If he would fail to appear at that time, Powell's seat would be declared vacant. He then would have to decide whether to run in the special election to fill the vacancy or to retire and collect his $15,000 annual pension.

Sources say Powell's pension would not be subject to the $40,000 assessment, which otherwise is to be deducted from his $30,000 annual salary at the rate of $1,000 a month.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said Friday Governor George Romney of Michigan, a potential presidential contender, has reached "the epitome of confusion" in criticism of the Vietnam war.

Sparkman told the Senate he could not stay silent when some critics argued against President Johnson's policies for "self-serving motives."

"Chief among these critics," Sparkman said, "is Michigan Gov. George Romney... and I question his credentials and his motives."

"As for his credentials," Sparkman said, "he has virtually none."

As for motives, the senator said, "It is evident he is seeking the Republican presidential nomination."

Senator Percy said the Republican party should "lead, not lag" in developing improved relations between the United States and the Communist world.

"Let us for once dispense with both the shrill cries of self-righteous nationalism and the wishful dreams of peace at almost any price, and objectively develop new policies which might lead to an easing of tensions among nations," the Illinois Republican said.

Percy himself rated a possible GOP choice for the party's next White House nomination.

Cheaters Quit In Air Academy Code Violation

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The head of a student committee investigating the second wave of classroom cheating in two years at the Air Force Academy says he is stunned by the latest honor code violations.

Commenting on the disclosure Friday that 24 cadets had resigned and 24 others were being investigated by the student committee which enforces the honor code, Cadet Lt. Col. Joseph J. Kruzel said:

"I am stunned. I couldn't believe at first that it was happening."

But all the cadets involved were well aware of the honor code. They knew what they were doing."

Kruzel, son of Air Force Brig. Gen. J. J. Kruzel, of the headquarters Pacific Air Forces in Hawaii, said the current cheating had been going on "for some time — probably all year."

He referred to the academic year starting last fall.

Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Moorman, academy superintendent, said that some of the 24 candidates who resigned in the current case were varsity athletes, but he declined to say how many.

Some athletes also are among those under investigation.

In the cheating scandal two years ago, 100 cadets, including 20 football players, resigned. They were directly involved or were beneficiaries in the theft and sale of examination papers.

The latest resignations, officials said, involved the practice of some cadets discussing the content of examinations with others scheduled to take the same examination later the same day.

The 2,965 cadets at the 12-year-old academy function under an honor code that states, "We will not lie, steal or cheat nor tolerate among us anyone who does."

Seats Sucked Out Of Plane

NEW YORK (AP) — "Suddenly something went P-O-M and the side of the plane just forward just blew out," recalled Pat Duffy, a teacher from Braintree, Mass.

Miss Duffy was one of nine passengers aboard a Northeast Airlines propeller-driven DC8B Friday when a section of the plane's fuselage was blasted out by an "explosive decompression."

Two passengers were reported to have suffered minor injuries.

"I saw two seats go out through the hole," said Miss Duffy. "All the unoccupied seats just seemed to fold in half and their stuffings exploded."

"Wires came down from the ceiling, the floor buckled up, the lights went out. It was just like you punched a hole in a can of hair spray and the insides let go."

The hole was blown in the forward cabin of the airliner as it soared 15,500 feet over New Jersey near an aerial checkpoint known as Colt's Neck in Monmouth County. The plane, en route from Philadelphia to Boston on a nonstop flight, carried a crew of five.

While two seats were sucked through the hole and clothing and luggage fell through the skies in the area of Holmdel, N.J., the pilot, Capt. William Donahue, 50, of Saugus, Mass., managed to land the plane safely at Kennedy International Airport about 10 minutes after the blast despite the loss of power in two of his four engines.

In a statement, Northeast said that it appeared the hull of the aircraft had been pierced.

George A. Van Epps, air safety investigator for the CAB, said he didn't "know whether the propeller tip broke off and pierced the aircraft or the flying debris clipped off the end of the propeller."

The temperature in the cabin dipped to 38 degrees below zero.

Flush 1st Cong In Offensive
SAIGON, (AP) — U.S. infantrymen flushed a company of Viet Cong in War Zone C today for the first sizeable contact with the enemy since the start of Operation Junction City, biggest offensive of the war.

A U.S. military spokesman reported that the Viet Cong force, estimated at 115 men, melted into the jungle soon after they were hit by a battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division.

He said American casualties were light in the encounter. Enemy losses were not known.

The peace appeared to be gathering momentum in the massive drive as the tanked U.S. troopers tightened their horseshoe-shaped vise. The U.S. force reported killing 30 more Communists in the last 24 hours to raise the total since they launched the operation to 49.

Early Push For Governor Rated Unprecedented

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., praised Michigan Gov. George Romney today as a good likely Republican presidential candidate in 1968.

Percy, who himself has been mentioned as a possible contender for the nomination next year, told newsmen flatly that he is "not a candidate and will not become a candidate."

Percy, in Detroit to address the Michigan Republican convention, said he also saw no possibility of being drafted.

"I waited for a draft in 1964," he said, jokingly "and I did not feel the slightest breeze."

The Illinois senator praised Romney for his recent tour of the Western United States, including Alaska, and observed that a potential candidate has to seek the nomination.

Unprecedented Push
He remarked that it was "most unprecedented" to have a man pushed so early for the nomination.

Romney sat beside Percy at the crowded news conference.

The Michigan governor had high praise for Percy as a "man who has a good sense of timing in both his private and public life."

Romney described Percy as an "opportunist" but quickly explained he was using the word in the sense that Percy realizes the right time to act.

Asked if he considers himself to be the same kind of an opportunist, Romney replied, "Yes."

Hot Romance Going
Romney said he and Percy have similar backgrounds.

Referring to his possible candidacy Romney likened the candidacy to marriage.

"Candidacy is like marriage only — one person can agree to be married and only one person can announce his candidacy."

"I did indicate out in Phoenix that I've got a red hot romance going on," he added.

Percy said that he plans to vote for a proposed consular treaty with the Soviet Union, despite the fact that his mail has been overwhelmingly against it.

Percy said he considered it his responsibility to convince the electorate why they should support the proposal.

Percy said he thought it was about time the East and West broke down economic and political barriers now separating them.

Fresh from their November victory over Democrats, some 3,000 delegates and alternates headed for Cobo Hall to elect officers, adopt resolutions on party policy and hear a keynote speech by freshman U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill.

Milk Producers Ask Curbs On Dairy Imports

DETROIT (AP) — The president of the Michigan Milk Producers Association has urged Congress to tighten controls on low-priced dairy imports, which he said are forcing down farm incomes in Michigan.

Higher Prices No Milk Spur

A slow-down in food price increases may be in store for consumers but beef and pork producers face an uneasy price situation in the immediate future. Dr. John Ferris, Michigan State University agricultural economist, in his early March forecast, thinks food prices are unlikely to jump as sharply as they did last year.

Pressures from labor costs will be upward during 1967 but growth rates in general business may be at a more moderate pace, Ferris predicts. By commodity, here is the way the MSU agricultural economist sees prices to farmers:

Milk—Producers have reacted cautiously to higher prices. Wisconsin, Minnesota and California dairymen have increased production, but Michigan production continues to decline. January production was off 6 per cent from a year ago in Michigan and it was also lower in the northeastern states and the rest of the eastern corn belt areas. The number of Michigan dairymen declined by 11 per cent during 1966.

Cattle—Reports show 7 per cent more cattle on feed than a year ago and continued heavy average weights of fed cattle marketed is having a bearish influence on beef prices. Until mid-year, it appears that price gains on fed cattle will be hard to achieve.

Potatoes—There has been no major change in the overall price level on potatoes and with stocks in fall producing areas about the same as a year ago none is in sight.

"Due to our high level and high cost economy, Michigan dairy farmers cannot begin to compete with heavily subsidized dairy products which are landed on U.S. shores at less than one-half our prices," said Glenn Lake, a North Branch dairy farmer.

Lake said in a letter to Michigan's 19 members of the U.S. House of Representatives that present law limits foreign dairy products coming into the United States to the equivalent of 189 million pounds a year.

But, he said, loopholes in import control measures allowed 2.5 billion pounds of milk equivalent to be imported.

The imports, said Lake, forced the Michigan price for milk used in butter, cheese, ice cream and other products down 37 cents a hundredweight (46½ quarts) in the last six months. That price was $3.92 in January.

The price for bottling milk was $6.10 in January and farmers received a "blend" price of $5.35 a hundredweight, based on 67 per cent of their milk going into bottles and 33 per cent into dairy products.

"We realize that American agriculture cannot prosper without exports and exporting is not a one-way business," Lake said. "But all other milk producing countries have import controls and most have high export subsidies."

He said the imported products are not required to meet the same high quality production standards established for American dairy farmers.

American policy on imports, he said, "acts as a ceiling on dairy farmers' incomes and prevents us from sharing equitably in our national growth and prosperity."

Lake said Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., is cosponsor of a Senate bill which would control imports and Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., has said he will support it.

Snowmobile On Loose Presents Puzzle To Police

MANISTIQUE (AP) — A very easily identified skating object slithered and skidded and lurched all over the snow-shrouded countryside around Manistique.

It was a runaway snowmobile—with its driver in hot pursuit. William Carlson, 15, was taking his sister for a ride on the snowmobile, but when the machine hit a bump and threatened to tip over, Carlson jumped off, dragging his sister with him.

At full power, the snowmobile zoomed away, crossed two fields and slipped through an open gate, and zipped across U.S. 2.

A woman motorist faint. The snowmobile sped through more fields, broke through fences, curved around trees, turned in a wide semi-circle, slipped back over U.S. 2, and eased to a stop against an aging automobile standing by the road.

Elapsed time: 20 minutes. Damages to the car: $50. State Police know the accident should result in a citation, but they're not sure how to go about it—the Secretary of State doesn't recognize the snowmobile as a motor vehicle, so they can't call it a runaway vehicle, and they can't ticket the driver (there was no driver.)

Scout Banquet Held Wednesday In Powers

The annual Blue and Gold Banquet was held Wednesday evening at the American Legion Hall for the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts of Powers-Spalding.

Following dinner, Warren Danzer of Escanaba spoke to the scouts and parents on scouting and camping. He will also conduct a school survey to start new dens with boys ranging from ages 8 to 10½.

A report was given on the Christmas baskets and letters of appreciation were read. Awards were presented to Dan O'Neil, Mark Bellmore, Mike Veraghen, Mary Gatten, Steven Perry, Billy Fazer, John Grondine, Paul LeBoeuf.

Charles Kell, Tony Sheski, Mike Sheski, David Graham, Kenneth Murray, Donald Paquin, David LeBoeuf.

Dens 2, 3 and 4 presented the skits. Three boys, Paul LeBoeuf, Tony Sheski and Kenneth Murray, were graduated from cub scout to boy scouts. The scout master is Stewart Perry.

Den mothers are Mrs. Joseph Sheski, Mrs. Earl Kell and Mrs. Clarence Poupore with assistants, Mrs. Edward Paquin, Mrs. Donald O'Neil and Mrs. Wilfred Grondine.

Headon Crash Injures Five

MANISTIQUE—Five persons were injured in a two-car accident at 7:40 p. m. Friday on U. S. 2 near Gulliver. The accident happened when one of the cars involved attempted to pass a snowplow, State Police said.

Troopers said a car driven by Melvin W. Bowler, 20, of Germfask was going east on U. S. 2 and slowed as a snowplow approached from the opposite direction. A strong wind was blowing snow from the plow, limiting visibility, officers reported.

Bowler told police that as his car neared the plow he saw a light coming toward him from a westbound car. Police said a car driven by Edward I. Davis, 25, of Seney, was straddling the center line going around the snowplow and the two cars met headon.

Injured were Bowler and a passenger, Phyllis Bowler, 17, and Davis, plus two of his three passengers, Constance Davis, 21, of Seney, and Jerry Hollingshead, 21, also of Seney. Edward and Constance Davis remained in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital today. The others were treated at the hospital and released.

Davis was given a notice to appear by State Police for improper lane usage and no proof of insurance. Bowler was ticketed for no proof of insurance.

Jacobetti Asks $200 Benefits For Viet Vets

Rep. Dominic J. Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) has co-sponsored a bill in the House of Representatives which would establish a soldier's bonus for Vietnam veterans, based on payments of $200, but with benefits scaled up to $1,000 in survivor benefits for victims of extreme physical disability.

"Our state has provided similar measures in previous wars, but never before have the funds needed been immediately available," Jacobetti said.

"My bill stipulates that an appropriation not to exceed $600,000 from the Korean Veterans Military Pay Fund of 1955, shall be released as required to carry out the provisions of this Act."

The bill defines "veteran" as meaning any man or woman who has served more than 60 days in the military services, who is entitled to the Vietnam Service Medal or the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal—Vietnam Area, and who was a resident of this state at the time of entering service and for at least six months immediately prior thereto and who has not applied for and received similar payments from another state.

"As my wife and I have eight children," Gafner said, "our moving back here will cause Escanaba to undergo something of a population explosion. We are happy to be returning to my home town and are looking forward to taking an active part in community activities."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gafner of Danforth.

License Officers Plan Late Hours

LANSING (AP) — Branch license plate offices plan to work late hours in an effort to cut down on long lines Saturday and Tuesday.

The secretary of state's office reports all branches manned by Civil Service workers will be open Saturday until 5 p. m., and on Tuesday until 7 p. m., or until all customers in line by these hours have been served.

Branches operated on a fee basis will stay open as long as they want. The fee offices generally keep much longer hours than Civil Service offices to accommodate their customers.

The latest estimate was that 2.4 million plates had been sold as of the end of the business day

Wednesday. This left some 700,000 plates to go.

Passenger cars and trucks without the 1967 plates are likely to be ticketed by police after Tuesday.

The violation is a misdemeanor, punishable by whatever fine is set locally.

Court To Hear Criminal Cases

Two persons will be sentenced and four others arraigned on criminal charges Monday in Circuit Court before Judge Bernard H. Davidson of Neegaunee.

Facing sentencing are Orrin Westlund, 17, of Two Rivers, Wis., on a breaking and entering charge and Marjorie Bjork, 19, of Escanaba for grand larceny.

Both earlier had pleaded guilty to the charges. Westlund is lodged in the Delta County Jail and Miss Bjork is free on bond.

Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas Chapekis said today that Paul E. Johnson, 21, of 1008 2nd Ave. N., John R. Christianson, 19, of 322 N. 11th St., and Robert S. Trombley, 19, of 1009 2nd Ave. N., will be arraigned on breaking and entering charges. One count has been filed against each.

All are currently in the Delta County jail. Chapekis said Helen Dickerson, 33, of Escanaba will be arraigned on a forgery charge. Chapekis said the charge involves checks in Escanaba and Gladstone.

Jury trial of a civil case which had been scheduled to begin Monday in Circuit Court was continued to the April term of court. The jury was dismissed. The case was George W. Wise Jr., an infant, by George W. Wise Sr., next friend, vs. Christopher Michael Young, an infant, arising from an accident several years ago in which George Wise Jr. lost sight in an eye.

Upper Peninsula Benefits

Fish Planting Enlarged

Delegates to the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association's annual winter meeting in Negaunee this week heard about Michigan's new fish management program from the state's regional fish biologist, Henry Vondett of Marquette.

Turkey Hunt

MADISON, Wis. — Hunters wishing to take part in Wisconsin's second spring turkey season have until March 29 to apply for permits, and application forms will be available about March 13, the Conservation Department announces. The season is April 22-May 11 in the area bounded by State Highways 21, 80 and 173. Each permit is good for a specified two-day period and 110 permits will be issued for each period. Each permit-holder may bring one guest, so as many as 2,200 sportsmen will be eligible to take part.

Water Treatment Exam Tuesday

Examinations for certification of wastewater treatment plant operators will be conducted by the Michigan Department of Public Health on Tuesday, Feb. 28, in the State Office Building.

John Erickson, sanitary engineer in the department's Upper Peninsula office, said that 27 Upper Peninsula operators have been approved to write this year's examinations.

reviewed the program, which involves salmon planting, stepped up trout management and new efforts to improve warm water fishing.

He said 450,000 coho salmon are scheduled to be released this spring in the Big Huron River in Baraga County, where 192,400 fingerling cohos were planted last April in the initial stocking of this species in Michigan. Next year another 700,000 cohos are to be released in the Big Huron.

Chinook salmon are to be released in Lower Peninsula streams tributary to Lake Michigan this year for the first time, and a token planting of chinooks is to be made at the same time in the Big Huron for experimental purposes.

Concerning other species, Vondett reported:

Steelheads—Michigan expects to have its own rainbow trout brood stock in a couple of years so that state biologists will not have to live trap wild steelheads and strip them of eggs to bolster the steelhead planting program. Steelhead eggs were taken from trapped wild trout in the Upper Peninsula last spring for the first time and reared in the Marquette Hatchery. The progeny of those eggs will be released in streams flowing into Lake Superior this year to increase steelhead runs there.

Coasters—The Michigan Conservation Department plans studies of these fish in hopes of increasing the coaster population, which is now concentrated only in a few areas along the Lake Superior shoreline. Lake trout—Michigan raised 3,300,000 lake trout last year for release in the Great Lakes. Of this number, 2,200,000 were released in Michigan waters of Lake Superior.

Muskellunge—The state hatchery at Thompson near Manistique is being remodelled for muskie production. Northern pike—Most of the work on this species is directed toward establishment of pike spawning marshes.

Walleyes—More studies will be made on this species to try to find out better ways of rearing them.

Vondett said cooperation with federal fisheries officials and Western conservation department officials will bring about

Mack Starting Congress Drive

State Senator Joseph S. Mack (D-Ironwood) called today for public support for his plan to reduce the cost of the hot lunch program for school children.

Mack introduced a resolution in the Michigan Senate asking Congress to lift the burden of rising food costs off the shoulders of needy families whose children participate in the program.

Mack asked that concerned citizens direct their appeals to their congressmen.

Fish habitat improvement work, he said, will be directed at stream improvement and checking bank erosion primarily. There is need for stream and lake frontage acquisition for habitat work, he said.

Schools Get $20,904 From Library Fund

R. L. Godmer, Delta-Schoolcraft intermediate superintendent reports that the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District will receive $20,904 in Title II funds for school library aid under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Title II funds are used by the 40 public and parochial schools in Delta and Schoolcraft counties to supplement their individual library and audio-visual resources.

CIA And The Students

The universities should be strong in their insistence upon freedom. They can have no integrity without it. But they shouldn't join the anvil chorus of criticism of the Central Intelligence Agency, our national spy system, because it has been revealed as a secret supplier of funds to the National Student Association.

Ramparts Magazine, trying hard to be sensational, broke the story of the CIA support of NSA and charged that the intelligence agency had "infiltrated and subverted the world of American student leaders" and that the case was a "study in the corruption of youthful idealism."

The facts don't support such charges. The American people should be concerned that our intelligence—meaning our spy apparatus—is as good as it can be. Otherwise we're going to be under huge handicaps in our dealing with powerful nations which use any means—fair or foul—to find out what's going on.

The proof of the pudding in the National Student Association case is impressive. CIA funds supplied to this agency enabled it to end the rule of the communist youth groups at international student gatherings.

While we keep our concern that our federal government spy program doesn't brainwash us at home, let us note that the NSA was founded in 1947 by U.S. campus leaders after the 1946 World Student Congress in Prague, Czechoslovakia, where well-financed Communist student groups stole the show.

NSA had money troubles from its birth and in 1952 CIA made a deal to funnel cash to it secretly through other covering organizations. The program was conducted with elaborate hush-hush and the student leaders involved were required to take security pledges that they wouldn't tell about the money under threat of prison terms.

Over the years the Ford Foundation and Rockefeller Foundation and some other agencies dribbled a little money into this effort, but the big money came from CIA. It was earmarked for the international program of NSA only and the intelligence agency made no attempt to influence the students' policies. This is the crucial point: the U.S. Government helped finance our students' own organization to represent this nation abroad in international student congresses, but it did not dictate our students' position.

What happened is public knowledge. NSA has taken many active stands against administration policies. It has consistently condemned the U.S. war policy in Vietnam and it lambasted U.S. intervention in the revolt in the Dominican Republic.

Under the CIA subsidy the NSA had the money it had so long lacked to carry out its foreign exchange programs and give this country good representation in international student affairs. Criticism of the secret funding has assumed that the CIA manipulated our students to make them Charlie McCarthys for our foreign policy, but the record shows that it didn't happen.

The secret financing inevitably became known. There were rumors in 1965 that the federal government was financing NSA abroad, but the State Department was suspected as the villain and not the CIA. That year Philip Sherburne of the University of Oregon was elected president of NSA and when he learned where nearly all of NSA's funds were coming from he rebelled, regarded it as anti-democratic and set out to get the needed money from other sources. He managed to raise $400,000, including some $180,000 from another federal government agency, the Office of Economic Opportunity.

When Sherburne came to take office in mid-1966 he thought he had cleared up the CIA situation satisfactorily, but he broke his secrecy pledge and Michael Wood of Pomona, Calif., College ran to Ramparts with a 50 page letter telling all. Ramparts, which in an earlier issue charged that Michigan State University had acted improperly by providing cover for five CIA agents in a federally financed project to train South Vietnamese policemen, hurried to expose the secret deal.

It makes us a bit unhappy that our national leaders — Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson knew about the CIA-NSA contract—have to put us in the dirty tricks business to keep us even with our foes, or ahead of them, but we agree that they must do it. We shouldn't weasel, then, when we get caught at it.

Martyrdom Of Peter And Paul Commemorated

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has proclaimed a "Year of Faith" for Roman Catholics to commemorate the 19th centenary of the martyrdom of St. Peter and Paul.

In a letter to all his bishops, the pontiff ordered special religious celebrations and prayers in every church, parish, seminary, religious house and Catholic home.

He announced that the celebration would start June 29, the feast day of the two apostles, and would last until June 29, 1968.

The Pope appealed to non-Catholic Christians to join in the commemoration. He did not specify what he thought would be suitable.

THEFT
To the persons who borrowed our pig the other night, you have my deepest sympathy and if you are the same one that did it last year and I think you are, and also smashed up our car, I feel very sad for you, for it must be terrible to have to get your kicks by stealing and destroying other people's property.

Someday you may have to pay more than you can afford in self-respect. Do you really enjoy something you have to steal to get? There is a better way to get things it is called work and it's not a new thing. We have to work and so do most of our 11 children, so if you decide to borrow something of someone else's again, stop and think of how you may have to pay it back.

DEER SURVIVAL
Much is appearing in the news media about the present danger to Michigan's deer herd, a danger created by a severe winter, with unusual snow and cold. As early as Jan. 18, Joe Vogt, local game biologist stated, "Deep snow has been general, and now we have the added problem of cold, down to 20 degrees below zero". Jan. 24, according to a news release stated, "We are watching the situation with fingers crossed". Feb. 2 appeared another article headlined: "Winter severe for deer herd". Feb. 21, "Snow is deepest, peril grows". Feb. 20 "Corn offered to feed deer herd". According to this article the U. S. Department of Agriculture has offered 4,000 bushels of corn to the Michigan Department of Conservation.

From where I sit, it seems that the department is still sitting with "crossed fingers." If a crisis is at hand, and we may believe that it is, then isn't it the department's responsibility to meet this crisis with any available means? According to figures released by the department it collected $6.58 million in fishing and hunting license fees in 1966.

Are we to believe that the Department of Conservation is so poor that it cannot find the money to meet the present crisis? It's folly to request the public, sportsmen, and sportsmen's clubs to assume the responsibility that belongs on the shoulders of the people designated and paid to conserve our fish and wild life.

If some pet project, which the department cherishes, must be shelved to find the money to meet the present crisis, then let this project or any other be shelved. Let's put first things first. Also let's quit crying "wolf" when the wolf isn't at the door for any other reason, than that we hate to shelve some pet program.

It seems to me that a cargo plane could drop enough hay in one week upon the stricken areas to help stave off the present danger. And hay is, from all accounts a cheap commodity this year. We may assume that hay isn't the best forage, although the deer in our meadow feeds upon hay all summer, but in this crisis let's do something about it. I am also aware that there are crews cutting forage, in some areas, but these cuttings, do not seem to be enough to solve the problem. Well, crossed fingers won't solve it either.

JUSTICE?
We have just been told about another killer who has been set free without punishment. After his arrest he confessed to the murder of his wife and five children. But because he was not advised of his rights he was set free. Free to kill again. (I wonder, did he inform his victims of their rights?)

The administration plans to ask for more money to fight crime. All the money in the world will not prevent crime when it is not only condoned but actually encouraged by our laws. The handcuffs have been taken off the criminal and placed on the policeman. Congress, federal killers are coddled and set free while the victims are forgotten by the courts.

We have reached the ridiculous stage in our system of law whereby a parking violation is considered more serious than murder. The motorist pays a fine when he receives a parking ticket, but a killer is turned loose with no penalty whatsoever.

It is small wonder that the citizens of Detroit are buying firearms in record numbers. When they cannot depend on the law of the land to provide protection they have no choice but to protect themselves.

This has all come about because of the infamous Escobedo and Miranda decisions handed down by our Supreme Court. To make matters worse (or better for the criminals) the decisions were made retroactive to include arrests that had already been made.

Our law enforcement officers perform a remarkable job in apprehending criminals and fighting crime. Now they must stand by helplessly while killers who have confessed to their crimes are released because of a technicality in the arrest or trial procedure.

I believe there are many citizens who still believe that crime should NOT pay. There must be some way to protect the rights of prisoners and ALSO protect the innocent. We, as citizens must demand that a way be found soon. Or will we just sit back and watch this mockery of justice continue? Make your feelings known. Remember, the life you save may be your own.

INCOME TAX
I wish to refer to your well written editorial of Feb. 23 on the question of "fiscal reform" in Michigan. Commenting on the proposed 3.5 per cent flat rate income tax under which all taxpayers would pay the same rate, you wrote: "A flat rate income tax is not inequitable like a sales tax, which taxes the poor disproportionately because so much of their income is expended on the needs of life and subject to the tax."

In economic literature, a flat rate tax is referred to as a proportional tax. As a student of economics, I humbly beg to disagree with you when you say that such a tax "is not inequitable like a sales tax." Suppose there are two families with incomes of $5,000 and $50,000 per year and each of these families is charged an income tax of 2.5 per cent. The rich family pays a tax of $1,250 while the poor family pays $125.

The rich family certainly pays more in absolute amount, but most people would agree that the poor family still makes the greater sacrifice. The rich family, giving up $1,250, gave up some luxuries while the poor family, giving up $125, has been forced to give up medicine, clothing or food. The actual burden of a proportional tax (a flat rate tax), like a sales tax, will rest more heavily on the lower income group.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The editorial did not say that the burden of the flat rate tax did not bear proportionately more heavily on low incomes; it said that it was not inequitable in the manner of the sales tax.

SAULT
Referring to your article "Sault Moves to Make History Live During '68 Celebration," which was carried on Page 16, Mining Journal, issue of Feb. 8:

In the fourth paragraph you state "... and the French used their word 'sault' (falls) to designate the place."

We do not find the word "sault" in the three excellent French dictionaries available; however, we do find the word "saut," derived from the Latin, saltus, and meaning, among other things, falls. Even as late as the 1850's the place was known as Saut de St. Marie, and it was largely because of the decline of the French influence and the coming of the British and Americans that the present Sault St. Marie gradually came into use.

Ernest H. Rankin
Executive Secretary
Marquette County Historical Society

Editor's note: Jean Cote, instructor in French at Escanaba Area High School, says Ernest Rankin is both right and wrong. "Le Sault," the falls, of the St. Mary's River was the old, medieval form used by the Jesuits. Usage has changed the word "sault" to "saut" because the "L" was not sounded and was finally dropped, the way the Irish "knocked the 'L' out of 'Sault'."

"Saut" and "sault" are nouns from the verb "sauter," meaning to jump. In old French "le sault" would be "the falling" (of the waters) and modern French would make it out "le saut" (the jump of the waters). LaRousse, which is the modern "Webster's" dictionary of French, does not list "sault," and explains that "saut" means "the action of jumping." As in-to a hasty correction of a footnote that needs no correction, perhaps?

Here is a hand from an important team match of some years back in which South displayed against the mathematical percentages to produce a 1,530 point swing in favor of his side.

East won the spade lead and returned the ten spot. South saw no reason to finesse the jack. His whole problem was going to be with the jack of hearts. Therefore he took the king of spades and led a trump to dummy's ace. Then he proceeded to think for a long time.

South noted that six clubs would make irrespective of the jack of hearts but he was pretty sure that the other South would also be in six hearts. He was also pretty sure that the other South would make the normal play of cashing a second high heart. This South was inclined to make the same play. It would not be criticized if it failed, whereas a second round finesse against the jack of hearts would be severely criticized if it cost the slam. This didn't worry South. He wanted to win.

South thought long enough so that he could be sure that East and West would both be aware of his problem. Then South called for dummy's six of diamonds. East played the queen! South was on lead with the ace and played a low heart and called for dummy's nine.

South's reason for taking the unusual finesse lay in East's play of the queen of diamonds. East was not inclined to make unsound vulnerable overcalls and South was pretty sure that East held the guarded queen of diamonds. He also thought that East would falsecard once South had made sure that East knew what South's problem was. Of course, South would have looked mighty silly if that queen of diamonds had really been a singleton and East had held the jack of hearts.

Ann Landers
Better Make Trio A Quartet, But Quick

Dear Ann Landers: I am going with a girl who has a bad reputation. We are both 18 years of age. From our very first date Val told me there were a lot of stories going around about her, and that most of them were true. I thought she was kidding but I know now she was not.

A few days ago my buddy took her out. It wasn't even a date, it was just a ride. He told me the next day that Val was a push-over and I ought to ditch her. I asked Val if what my friend had told me was the straight story and she said yes. Then she added, "It's that way with almost everybody."

Val insists she has never been in love and she is sure no boy has ever loved her. Why then is she so free with her body? I really care for this girl and I want to understand her but I can't. Please explain Val's actions to me. — QUESTION MARK

Dear Q. Mark: This girl is emotionally unbalanced. She gives in to every boy who comes along because she wants desperately to be liked. Val's low opinion of herself makes it impossible for her to believe that she could hold a boy's interest with conversation alone.

The girl is pathetic and I hope she gets some professional help before she winds up in very serious trouble.

On three or four occasions I asked my husband, Bill, if it would be all right to ask Helen to join us for dinner and the movies. He was agreeable. Since that time we haven't gone anywhere without her. Even when we go for a spur-of-the-moment hamburger, Bill says, "Call Helen." "The poor thing is probably alone."

"The poor thing" is rolling in money, has an attractive home, a great wardrobe and can go anywhere in the world she wants to. But it seems she only wants to go with us.

Helen calls Bill for all kinds of advice — from how much she should put in the tires to how much interest she should be collecting on her money. She is very generous, however — always buys three tickets to everything. Helen gets sweeter by the day and I am becoming shakier and more perturbed.

We are in our late 40's and have never had any serious trouble until now. I realize, Ann, that

I should be able to handle this problem, but I just can't. Any advice? — THIRD PARTY

Dear Party: Start scouting around for a fourth party—right now. Helen needs a man and the best way to make sure she doesn't get yours is to dredge up some eligible unmarrieds.

Confidential to Misunderstood: Few people have the ability to put into words exactly what they mean. This is a rare talent. And if you don't believe me, listen to yourself the next time you try to put an idea across.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

El Toro Fleet 'Sailing' Ahead

Although heavy ice still covers Little Bay de Noc, the Escanaba Yacht Club's program to build a fleet of El Toro sailing dinghies is sailing along full speed ahead.

The club announced that 13 members are participating in the building program for small boats. With one owner in the city already, the size of the fleet has grown from nothing last fall to 15 boats at present as John Welch has purchased one boat.

Due to a donation of mahogany lumber and favorable prices on other materials needed to build the hull, it is now possible to build a complete boat for less than $100, including a first class mast and boom set and a racing sail, a spokesman said.

More people can enter the building program and information is available on purchases of boats in any form, unfinished hulls, finished hulls or ready to sail packages.

The jig needed to build the hull is finished and assembly of the first hull is completed. From now on parts will be made on a production line basis and assembly will be speeded up this way.

For more information contact Henry Van Brussel, Bill Stenbol, Walt Zimmermann or any member of the Escanaba Yacht Club.

The El Toro is a versatile little boat. Its main function is as a sailing dinghy. It can be carried on a car top. It can serve as a tender, a rowboat, or it can be used for fishing and hunting.

The Escanaba Yacht Club plans to use the El Toro for its junior sailing program.

Playhouse Gets Pro Manager To Head Program

HOUGHTON — The Keweenaw Playhouse Guild, Inc., sponsors of the only professional theater in the Upper Peninsula, recently received a $7,500 grant from the Michigan State Council for the Arts.

The grant provides partial support for the guild's first executive manager, Fletcher Johnston. It will also be used to help promote and develop a professional arts program in the Upper Peninsula, including the theater, music, arts and crafts, literature, dance and exhibits.

Johnston will assume his new duties Monday. The Keweenaw Playhouse board will introduce him at a special dinner in Houghton Tuesday at which Ray Scott, executive director of MSCA, will discuss the council's goals in the Upper Peninsula.

"We are very happy about Mr. Johnston joining our organization and most appreciative of the Arts Council grant which has helped make it possible," said Mrs. R. R. Hagen, president of the Keweenaw Playhouse.

Johnston, 27, comes here from Oak Park, Ill. He has an A. B. degree from the State University of New York in theater history and production and is currently writing a theater history for juvenile readers. He has also done graduate work in the theater at Indiana University. An executive manager of the Guild Johnston will also serve as the Upper Peninsula representative for MSCA.

Romney Praised For Presidency

said Romney helped compile the Republican record that produced election victories in November.

"Clearly it was an autumn of discontent for many American voters," Percy said. "But they would not have turned to us in such numbers were it not for the fact that men like George Romney have given our party such a good name in recent years."

In foreign policy, Percy said, the most immediate opening for reconciliation lies in Senate approval of the proposed treaty with the Soviet Union.

But he said that if the treaty is to be approved, along with others yet to come, and if East-West trade is to be increased, "Then the United States must be prepared to adjust much of its foreign policy and its thinking."

"It will require a willingness to put away comfortable old ideas and adopt unfamiliar new ones," Percy said. "We cannot afford the extravagance of simplistic dogmatism. We cannot wage holy wars of anti-Communism."

Reaganites

DETROIT (AP)—Although today's Republican state convention is largely a "Romney for President" rally, advocates of one of Romney's potential 1968 rivals are in town to see who drops in and says hello.

Robert M. Smith, chairman of the Owasco-based "Republicans for Ronald Reagan," opened a hospitality suite Friday in the Statler-Hilton Hotel—offering GOP regulars from Gov. George Romney's home state offices, conversation and an alternate to Romney as a presidential candidate.

He said his group has more hope of picking up delegate support in neighboring Wisconsin and Illinois.

The delegates staged a victory dinner Friday night in honor of statewide GOP candidates since 1958.

On hand for the informal dinner was third-term Gov. George Romney, who is being promoted as a candidate for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, but who staunchly maintains he hasn't decided yet whether he will run.

53 Fed. Voted GOP Romney, recently returned from a seven-day tour of the western United States, arrived at the convention Friday and told party leaders 52 per cent of Michigan voters cast ballots for GOP candidates last November.

Only 22 per cent of the state's voters considered themselves Republicans four years ago when he made his first bid for governor, Romney said.

A comment of "isn't it great to win," by State Chairman Elly Peterson summed up the atmosphere of the dinner, which broke up for informal district causes and meetings of the credentials and resolutions committees.

19th District Fight The credentials committee meeting featured more than three hours of testimony from warring factions of the 19th District over the seating of separate slates of delegates.

The dispute grew out of the 19th district convention which was gavelled into adjournment after a conservative slate of state convention delegates was substituted for one drawn up by legislative districts.

The moderates charge the conservatives are trying to take over the party in Gov. Romney's home county to embarrass the governor.

Romney lives in the Oakland County community of Bloomfield Hills.

The 19th District has 79 delegates, 57 from Oakland County and 22 from Wayne County.

Urges Tax Support The resolutions committee Friday night called for support of Romney's tax reform program.

Negro Summit To Ask Powell To Reject His Seat

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan Human Rights Council and the International Masons Friday issued a joint call for a "Negro summit conference" for Detroit March 12.

James Smith, secretary of the council, said the groups "will ask Congressmen Adam Powell not to accept a seat in Congress under conditions set forth in recommendations by the House committee," Smith said.

He referred to the committee which investigated the New York Democrat and recommended that he be seated, censured and docked some pay.

Peasants Raid Chinese Cities

TOKYO (AP)—Peasants in Communist China's Kweichow Province, where party chairman Mao Tse-tung's "revolutionary rebels" claimed victory Feb. 14, have swarmed into the cities and attacked pro-Maoist forces, a provincial radio broadcast reported today.

It said army units were called out belatedly to guard warehouses holding seed for spring planting, but the peasants already had seized the stock, sold it and split the profits. The broadcast gave no details of fighting.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, in a report from Peking, said pro-Mao authorities and the army command in Kweichow published an urgent announcement describing the situation as serious and blaming anti-Mao reactionaries and rich peasants for sending the farmers into the cities.

Lansing Diocese Priests To Elect Bishop's Senate

LANSING (AP) — Roman Catholic priests in the 15-county Diocese of Lansing will elect, within the next two weeks, 10 of their number to serve as an advisory "Senate" to Bishop Alexander Zaleski.

Like most of the 153 U.S. dioceses, the central Michigan unit plans to allow priests to vote for the advisory body decreed by the Vatican, said the Rev. James Murray, vice chancellor of the diocese.

Murray said members of the advisory body will be elected from different age brackets. The bishop may appoint other Senate members, Murray added. The advisory senates are designed "to allow for a more collegial, more representative form of government in the dioceses," Murray said.

PARIS (AP) — Givenchy today unveiled a truly fabulous and superlative spring and summer collection which scores on its own without gimmicks. Givenchy and Balenciaga were sharing the Parisian stage for the season's final word on spring modes. Both houses restrict their openings to buyers, and then allow the news media to come in for a look a month later.

Givenchy showed to the press this morning. As buyers had reported a month ago, Givenchy has an elegant array of finery, achieves elegance without stunts or gadgetry, and makes it look all so effortless.

Givenchy's tailoring is clean-cut. His mood for sports clothes is young and casual. He likes playfulness with wide bermudas featuring the pressed trouser pleat. To go with them, casual wrist-length jackets, often vented with a loose look, go over a short navy sleeveless tunic belted at the hipbone.

These sports outfits almost always are in white with navy tunics. Flapped envelope pockets trim the sides and front of many tunics and coat dresses. Gold boules buttons march in single or twin formation down fronts of jackets, unpressed skirt pleats and coat dresses.

Another favorite theme is the costume, which has a suit jacket worn over a dress the top of which is white joined and belted

Newly Marrieds Can Rent Furnishings

What do newlyweds do when their standards are too high to allow moving in with parents, but too low to justify a fully furnished house?

The answer may be to rent furniture.

Miss Margaret Boschetti, home furnishings specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at MSU, says that furniture rental is a growing trend in many large cities.

"Social scientists say that the 20 to 29 age groups — the newly marrieds — will continue to be highly mobile, probably moving three times in the first 10 years of married life. Under these circumstances, apartment living is both practical and economical."

Miss Boschetti pointed out advantages that renting furniture has, particularly for apartment dwellers:

"First, the tenant has no interest, insurance, property taxes, moving costs or repair bills to pay," the specialist indicated.

"And for young people with undeveloped tastes in furniture or interior design, problems of furniture style, drapery and accessory coordination can be solved by consultation with a home economist or decorator. Many people don't want to wait to attain the standard they're used to. But they can't afford to buy on that level," she added.

"Buying furniture is a significant and often once-in-a-lifetime investment. Renting in the early days of homemaking gives time for a couple to formulate their style preferences until their income and family size call for more furniture and larger quarters," she said.

Miss Boschetti also said that renting furniture helps avoid losses when worn out or used furniture must be moved or sold. Another advantage for young people is that valuable credit financing is left for other priority items, such as an automobile and/or education.

The specialist pointed out that rental furniture business is still in its infancy. However, most major cities have had such plans for the last two years. The service is provided mainly through local merchants.

Rental furniture shouldn't hurt the selling market. Miss Boschetti predicts that as renters grow older, they'll have even higher standards for furniture they buy — all to the good for furniture dealers.

In some parts of the country, a major furniture manufacturer rents to apartment owners or managers who sublease furniture to tenants. However, some do rent directly to individuals. Thus far only one firm offers a complete rental package with decorator services.

The complete package includes all furniture, accessories, rugs, draperies, drapery fixtures and, on occasion, carpeting and appliances.

Few families living in single family homes are currently renting furniture. In most 1891. Her husband, John, because, managers renting belongs to several branches of the

Dear Heloise:

Just dropped everything to write of my new brainstorm. Actually, it was an accidental discovery.

Yesterday morning, I thawed out a pound of fish fillets and was just thinking of wrapping them to store until supper...

There was a wide mouth mayonnaise jar in my dish rack, so I popped the raw fish in, screwed on the top and put in my refrig.

When I came home from work, all I had to do was throw my flour and seasonings into the jar with the fish and shake. It was then ready for the frying pan.

No mess and only one jar needed for the whole works. Zoella

Dear Heloise:

I recommend that people buy a big mail receptacle. The type that fits on the inside of your front door or wall.

That way many items can be delivered to you instead of being returned to the post office. A big slot in the door or wall helps also.

Then the mail does not accumulate and show from the outside to announce your absence. A mail receptacle should be at least completely swallow your largest magazine or newspaper.

Eskymos End Season With Victory Over Marines, 15-2 Mark

MARINETTE — The Escanaba Eskymos closed out one of the finest seasons in school history here Friday night with an 81-70 victory over the Marinette Marines.

Already crowned champs of the Great Northern Conference, the Eskymos tacked on their 15th triumph in 17 starts overall, and set an all-time scoring record in the process.

Leading the record breaking assault was Paul Miller, classy 6 foot 1 inch senior guard, who laced home 17 field goals and eight free throws for 42 points.

Miller boosted his season scoring total to 447 and his career mark to 1,009, both Escanaba records.

The Marines gave the Eskymos a battle in the early going, then fell behind by as much as 21 points early in the third quarter.

With three Esky regulars benched by fouls, Marinette stormed back to get within eight points in the closing minutes.

The Eskymos put on a torrid shooting exhibition, hitting on 33 of 50 shots for 56 percent. Miller was deadly again last night, making 17 of his 24 shots from the field and eight of 10 from the line.

The Eskymos had a great night on the boards, hauling down 57 rebounds to 30 for the Marines. Dave Nyquist and Bob Myrval were the big men with 18 and 17 while Jim Boyle grabbed nine.

Nyquist and Myrval were also impressive in the scoring department, teaming up for 33 points.

Bob Bartkowiak led the Marines with a 29 point scoring performance.

Nothing To It; Bruins, Tigers Win In Warmups

By The Associated Press
There was nothing to it as the UCLA Bruins and the Princeton Tigers, the Country's No. 1 and No. 6 college basketball teams, warmed up for their showdown games tonight against Washington State and Cornell.

The unbeaten Bruins, led by Lew Alcindor's 37 points, crushed Washington 71-43 for their 22nd straight Friday night. Princeton, also playing at home, routed Columbia 97-45.

UCLA can wrap up the Pacific-8 Conference title and an automatic bid to the NCAA tournament by beating Washington State tonight. Princeton can virtually clinch the Ivy League crown and an NCAA berth by defeating Cornell.

UCLA, 10-0 in league play to Washington State's second place 7-3, is a heavy favorite. In contrast Princeton, now 21-2 overall and tied with Cornell at 11-1 in the Ivy race, is only a slight favorite.

The Big Red, who snapped Princeton's 12-game winning streak at Ithaca, N.Y., last weekend, routed Penn 101-81 on the road in their last game before the Princeton showdown. Gregg Morris' 23 points paced the Big Red to their 11th straight victory and a 19-3 record overall.

The game was the first of a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia. Villanova's tournament game against Wake Forest was a 64-40 rout.

Washington State beat Southern California 86-76 in Los Angeles. In other road victories California edged Oregon 62-61, Tulane defeated the Air Force 75-65, Samford humbled Virginia Military 81-71 and Pepperdine overcame the St. Mary's Gaels 76-73.

Oregon State edged Stanford 54-51 at Corvallis, Ore. In other home court triumphs, Yale beat Harvard 100-75, Brown took Dartmouth 70-63, Weber State defeated Montana 96-77 and Idaho State downed Montana State 97-92.

Southern Illinois, the nation's No. 1 team in The Associated Press small college poll, became the eighth team invited to the NIT post-season tourney opening in New York March 9.

Flint Central Nips Opponent

By The Associated Press
Flint Central scored five points in the last 15 seconds of double overtime Friday night to whip Saginaw Arthur Hill 76-72 in a Class A high school basketball game played before a standing room crowd of 2,400.

Feels Bacon put in the Indians' winning basket. Then Central got a free throw and Paul Stokes added the last two points on a tip-in. Flint Central took a share in the Saginaw Valley championship with Saginaw High School.

The Indians, ranked seventh in the Michigan Associated Press poll this week, are 14-2 for the season.

The Lumberjacks' Tom Bo hit a game high of 24 points and Flint's Tim Bograkov had 20. Clarkston obliterated Brighton 100-58 in other Class A action. Dan Fife poured in 52 points, more than half his team's total, as Clarkston racked up its 15th win of the season. The team has lost only one.

More than a foot of snow closed Benton Harbor High School early Friday, but some 1,500 persons braved the drifts and 30 mile-an-hour winds and turned out to watch the Benton Harbor team lose 54-53 to Muskegon.

Benton Harbor held a 44-43 lead going into the final quarter, but Muskegon overcame the advantage. The winners' Cal Tatum, a sophomore, was high scorer with 23 points and 23 rebounds. Monroe trounced Wyandotte Roosevelt, ranked ninth in this week's poll, by three points, 67-64.

Seagren Misses Record Effort; Meet Too Long

TORONTO (AP) — After a night on the "red-eye special," four quick hours of sleep and five hours of track meet, Bob Seagren came within one lap of a record in his first indoor pole vault.

Seagren, the 20-year-old sophomore of Southern California, nearly gave the remains of what was once a crowd of 13,482 persons at the Maple Leaf Games Friday night a 17-foot, 4-inch which would have improved on his current standard, set last week, by an inch.

But by the time the bar was raised to that height, it was past midnight and Seagren admits to having been considerably tired.

"The meet was entirely way too long," he said afterwards, a bit dazed on his sleepy face.

But Seagren almost got his record at that. His body cleared the bar at 17-4, but one arm knocked off the stick.

On his second try, he wasn't close, but on a final attempt, he nearly did it again.

If Seagren's victory was expected, Eddy Ottoz' triumph in the 50-yard hurdles was something of a surprise, and Kipcho Keino's disastrous showing in the three-mile run was a major puzzle.

Ottoz, the European hurdles champ from Italy, had met Willie Davenport of southern United States, and had been beaten twice.

In that, he was in good company. Davenport, co-holder of two indoor records, was unbeaten in his last 23 races and is

Bing Is Back To Help Mates

DETROIT (AP)—Rookie Dave Bing is off the sick list—and the Detroit Pistons couldn't be happier.

Bing, playing in his first game since he was sidelined with tonsillitis, hit eight of his 10 points in the closing minutes of Detroit's National Basketball Association contest with Los Angeles Friday night.

Then Eddie Miles struck on two jump shots in the last 78 seconds as the Pistons nipped the Lakers 102-101.

In other NBA action, Philadelphia ran away from Baltimore 149-118 as Walt Chamberlain scored 18 of 18 from the floor and Cincinnati trounced San Francisco 137-122 on the West Coast.

The Pistons' victory moved them within 1 1/2 games of the third-place Lakers in the Western Division race.

Miles scored the winning shot with 39 seconds remaining.

The Lakers had trailed by 15 points early in the second period, but Elgin Baylor and Jerry West led the team into a 10-point lead in the third period.

With a minute and a half left in the game, the Lakers led by three points. The advantage had been gained on eight straight points, five of them by Baylor.

Miles tipped the Pistons with 26 points. Player - Coach Dave DeBusschere added 18.

Pine Mountain Jumpers Poised

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — Seventy of the nation's top jumpers gathered at Pine Mountain today for a two-day assault on the North American ski jumping distance record.

The jumpers compete today in the Pine Mountain Classic and in the Kiwanis Invitational Sunday.

Top U.S. and Norwegian transplants will be vying to break the 335-foot mark set earlier this year at Leavenworth, Wash., by Bjorne Wirkola, Norway's world champion.

The top American jumper, John Balfanz of the University of Denver, and two Norwegians, Fritz Prydz and George Krog, have the best shot.

Balfanz has turned in a 318-foot leap this season but has been beaten twice by the more graceful Prydz. Krog, 21, another University of Denver student, won the junior title in Norway in 1964 and last year leaped 325 feet at Leavenworth. Last week he won the U.S. collegiate championship.

Other jumpers to watch include Butch Wedin of Iron Mountain, Jay Martin of the University of Wyoming, Dave Lundmark of Duluth, Minn., and two other Duluth jumpers, Dave Hicks and Adrian Wett.

Colorful Gene Kotlarek of Duluth was injured at a meet in Westby, Wis., last weekend and will not compete.

Gary Sparpana of Iron Mountain is a favorite to win the junior title. Sparpana is 1967 national junior champion.

March 14 Date For Pro Grid's Common Draft

HONOLULU (AP) — The first common draft of professional football will be held Tuesday, March 14 in New York unless there are unexpected objections from the American Football League.

The National Football League ended its annual meeting Friday without announcing any format for the common draft with the AFL.

Instead of making any public statement about their proposals, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the NFL owners were in touch with AFL people.

"We can be very close to agreement," Rozelle said. "There are some facets still to be worked out. I am hopeful we can resolve the situation by telephone in a week's time."

There is a strong possibility that, instead of separate drafts for regular seniors and redshirts, there may be no redshirt draft at all. A redshirt is a player with college eligibility remaining although his original college class has graduated.

The college stars regarded by pro scouts as the top redshirt possibilities are tackle Kevin Hardy of Notre Dame, tackle

Officials Back Illinois Coaches Ordered Fired By Big Ten Brass

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The Board of Directors of the Illinois Athletic Association Friday night completed the cycle of those backing three Illinois coaches against a Big Ten decree ordering their dismissal.

The board, made up of four faculty members and three alumni, met with the coaches before spokesman Charles Dadd announced the group was considering all means of aiding the trio.

Head football Coach Pete Elliott, basketball Coach Harry Combes and assistant basketball Coach Howie Braun, were the targets of an ultimatum Wednesday by Big Ten athletic directors demanding dismissal because of athletic irregularities arising from a $21,000 slush fund.

Illinois President David D. Henry came to the aid of the coaches immediately after conference athletic directors ordered the three by fired or Illinois faces possible expulsion from the conference.

Dr. Henry, who originally reported the irregularities to the Big Ten, called the action of the athletic directors "too harsh" and announced he would appeal the matter before a meeting of conference faculty representatives in Chicago next Wednesday.

Actually, all the athletic directors did was place the case in the hands of the faculty representatives who have the final word.

Joining Dr. Henry's support of the coaches were the entire football team, alumni, students, fans, Champaign-Urbana civic leaders and merchants.

Taking an opposite stand was the Daily Illini, the school's campus newspaper. The Daily Illini said "a violation is a violation regardless of what anyone else is doing and regardless of what we think of those who have broken the rules."

"It often is harder to acknowledge that a good friend has done something wrong, but when the evidence is there, there is little room for discussion," the editorial reasoned.

With almost everyone backing the coaches, speculation arose as to what would happen if the faculty representatives upheld the ultimatum of the athletic directors.

If that were to happen and the university refused to fire the coaches, the Big Ten would have no choice but to drop Illinois from the conference.

Huskies Blow 8-Point Lead

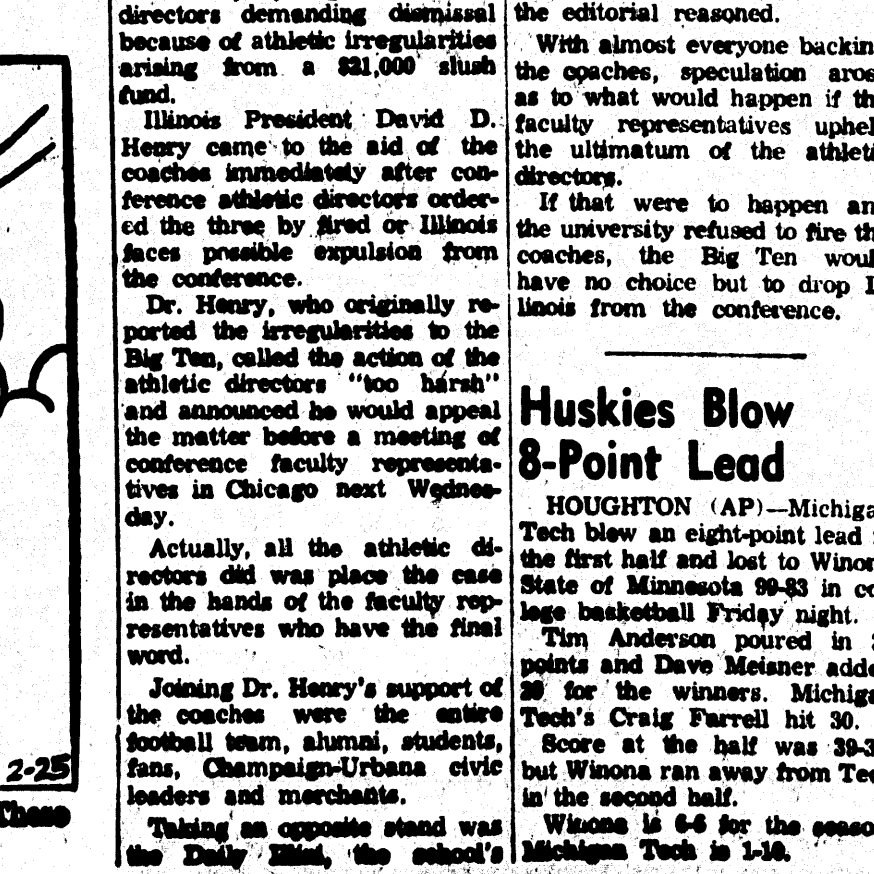

HOUGHTON (AP)—Michigan Tech blew an eight-point lead in the first half and lost to Winona State of Minnesota 99-93 in college basketball Friday night.

Tim Anderson poured in 31 points and Dave Meisner added 20 for the winners. Michigan Tech's Craig Farrell hit 30.

Score at the half was 39-39, but Winona ran away from Tech in the second half.

Winona is 6-6 for the season. Michigan Tech is 1-10.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Those sentimental serials which accompany many a housewife's daily chores have made an important contribution to our culture. They keep us mindful of the complications of living.

You can't follow a fictional family over an obstacle course of crises without realizing that your own family, too, has its ups and downs.

Elementary in this century is the fact that life can be—but ordinarily is not—beautiful!

We live in a time that requires serious planning of our today and tomorrow. We ought especially to be concerned for our family's spiritual fibre... for the unfolding character of our children... for the religious resources with which coming crises will be met.

The Church offers opportunity and inspiration in our quest of the lofty ideals of the Christian faith. The most important decision a family can make is to seek its finest aspirations through worship, religious study, and sacrificial service.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a showcase of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
